It's A Start!

This is the beginning — the beginning of a year. Not just any year, but the year of 1982. It's a year full of many things special to each individual and each group. It has different clubs, activities, students, and teachers; all who make up a part of this book, and this year.

At first we started out with a question of the future, but with each day we began to look forward to the day with confidence and excitement.

This yearbook is our life for one year, it starts out as we did, and, like us, will end with a feeling of accomplishment and satisfaction.

Looking At What We Had

We are all so lucky to be where we are, to have experienced the special times together. 1982 will always be a part of our lives and a memory that gives joy and happiness to all who look back and say, "Remember when . . ."

Remember when we had time — time to pause and reflect over what we had accomplished, to listen to our hearts and get to know ourselves.

Remember the friends we had. They had warmth, smiles of sunshine; they gave us the comfort of understanding that you could always count on.

Remember how we trusted ourselves, tomorrow, and our hopes and dreams.

Remember when we were all so different and unique in our own way, yet, when we came together we met as one — like no other group could ever be. This has been a very special year, and, as many will say, a very special memory.

Eat, Bulldog Meat . . .

Everyone was up for the big rivalry game, the players, coaches, students, teachers, everyone! This spirit-filled week was also shared by the community as the classes competed in painting merchants' windows to raise money for the Childrens Youth Home. We kept tradition by having a pep rally downtown where the Ram Boosters burned the bulldog. Another pep rally was held at school where the spirit generated almost raised the roof. Afterwards a car bash was held in the gym parking lot. The DECA club raised money by selling hits on the orange and black car. The week ended victoriously as the Rams crushed the orange Bulldogs 26 to 0.

Getting There Is Half The Fun

Remember when you got the keys to the car that had been handed down to everyone in the family and finally, it was your turn, or maybe you were one of those who slaved to buy your own means of transportation. Yet there were those who rode the school bus, and those who preferred bicycling or walking. For those distant from away, the bus got them to and from school.

Lunchtime brings back the fond memories of cramming into a friend's car, or getting whatever you could from the cafeteria service.

Your means of transportation revealed something about your personality whether you realized it or not. If you were the type who drove, washing and working your vehicle probably meant you were proud of it. On the other hand if you were one of those who threw the trash in the back and used your car for a place to live, maybe they your home away from home. Then, there are those who like to race and speed much of their time moving the speed of their vehicle. Then there are those who walk, some trying to get physically in shape, others because they have no choice!

We all get places somehow. In lots of crazy ways we had to do it. Getting there was actually half the fun.

Hollywood or Show Biz was the theme for Basketball Homecoming Week of 1982. Each day had a different activity such as favorite actor or actress day for which you dressed up as your favorite. The week was also divided into two weeks so the girls could ask the guys for dates. Every night had its own game and date such as Movie Night and Pizza Night. On Friday, at the Homecoming Pep Rally, the teachers presented a raucous skit.

Sherri Dalley was crowned Homecoming Queen at the game although we lost to the Tucumcari Rattlers by a score of 60-40. After the game everyone went to the Homecoming Dance which was decorated with glitter and stars befitting the theme, "The Stars Came Out Tonight".

Camelot

The 1982 Prom was a magnificent and outstanding nightcap to a gorgeous Maypole. The medieval setting and the "Camelot" theme made all of the girls feel like princesses and the guys feel like knights in shining armor. After crossing the moat into the ballroom, the couples had access to a beautiful dance floor and a castle at which refreshments were available. It was truly an evening to remember.

Looking To A New Beginning

The senior class of 1982 faced stark realities of more of everything after 12 long years of slaving away at the books. After all the tests, homework, late night studies and early morning practices, it had to be good. For many students the future was becoming a quick reality and plans for college, marriage, or work were made. As each senior grasped their diploma and felt its significance, they felt a surging emotion of being both excited and scared. And as they screamed and threw confetti and hats into the air, they felt the tears come as they realized that their old life was over and their new one was beginning.

In addition, there was juke box dancing and tables piled high with food which made for an evening of fun for all who attended.

P.H.S. Pals

Who was that person who helped you switch the signs on the bathrooms or skipped school and then got swats with you? It was that very same person who was honest and told you if your hair looked terrible or if your pants were unzipped. This was your buddy who laughed at your dumbest jokes and made you laugh, too.

Each one of us had our own special friend or group of friends with whom we felt at home and free to be ourselves. These are the people we will never forget. None of us will forget the person to whom we told our deepest darkest secrets. These are the friends we trusted and held their secrets sacred as well.

Just like food and water, our friends were a necessity. How could any of us live without the buddy who stood beside us and was there to pick us up when we fell? The answer is, "We couldn't live without our friends." They are what made the year of 1981-82 so special.

Having many things in common, Maria Ryan and Lisa Buscemi share their finger nail-biting habit.

SPORTS

Rams Conquer All

The Portales Rams ended the season with ten wins and only three losses. One of those wins was a 2016 victory over the Silver City Colts, in the State Championship game.

Throughout the year several of the Ram players were recognized for Player of the week in the Amarillo Globe News. These players were Art Sandoval, Jerry Poe, Greg Fleck and Kerry Warr. Greg Sander was also named to their Super Team.

Head Coach Tom Gruber was named Coach of the Year. Ten of his players named him in the All District poll. Greg Sander and Jon Gossett made both offense and defense first teams. First team offense was Mike Gonzalez, Red Simon, Joe Luehr, Carl Bittner and Johnny Poe. Defensive they were Francis Lopez and Derek Bigham.

The not-so-tall, not-so-famous, players faced a lot of skeptics. But from the season opener to the district tournament they proved that they were hardly GROUNDED! The Romettes were a hard-working group that had fire in their eyes and the guts to win. Unfortunately, the Romettes lost their regional game to Aztec after placing second in district. There were seven juniors on the team and four seniors. The

Hoops And Hopes

The competition, the upsets, the near misses and better luck next times of Ram basketball were common mishaps. The Rams were a young and inexperienced team. The team consisted of four seniors, three juniors, and five sophomores. Devoted to their work, the Rams just couldn't get any "breaks." Exertion, struggle, strain, stress, and labor were all contributing factors to the basketball team. Their 3-20 record was very misleading. The Rams spent many hours in the gym trying to improve their skills. It finally paid off when they advanced to the semi finals of the district tournament. Jeff Newberry and Ike Montoya were selected to the A.I. District first team.

Winning Ways

The hardwork, drudgery, pains and effort were worthwhile in the end. The Ramettes placed first in district; therefore, proceeded to the regional playoff. Failing to To hatchi, the Ramettes were eliminated from any hopes of attending the State Tournament. Starting out slowly, the Ramettes never got down on themselves and kept on trying to improve. By the time district started they were working together and playing as a team. Five Ramettes were honored to the All District team. First team was Robbie Robinson, Marla Tollert and Janet Baker. Sharon Gamble was selected to second team, and Shawna Jenkins as honorable mention. Robbie Robinson went on to be selected as honorable mention on the All State selections.

Those Other Athletes

The Varsity cheerleaders did an outstanding job this year at the summer "81" clinic where they were chosen by 35 other squads to receive the "Unity" award. They also received superior ribbons during the four days of competition and a superior trophy from the United Spirit Association. They went on to compete with 51 other squads at the N.M. State cheerleading Championships where they won 3rd place. Both the Varsity and J.V. girls, sponsored by Mrs. Marilyn Rigsby worked hard supporting the Rams and Ramettes and raising school spirit. They also raised money for their uniforms, equipment and out-of-town games. They planned homecoming activities and pep rallies and raised the spirit and morale of many by showing us how to be proud of PHS.

Competition

After being forgotten for two years, SUPERCLASS competition came back in 1982. All the classes gathered together at the fair-grounds to protect their image or to regain some pride for their class. The competition consisted of games for almost every type. There were many exciting relays such as the pass-the-orange-with-your-neck relay, the bat race, the sack race, and the obstacle course. Then for those with good hands there were the water balloon and egg tosses. A root beer chugging contest was held for those "hot" competitors there was a jalapeno eating contest.

The sophomore class is all wet as team mate Charlie Grissom bursts the balloon

The final encounter was the tug-a-war. The sophomores proved to be the strongest class when they pulled the tug-a-war win away from the juniors and seniors. The scores of all the games were tallied up. The juniors were the winners of the $50 prize, while the sophomores were a close second. The freshmen and seniors were third and fourth respectively. Although the night was a battle between the classes, it was also a chance for the students of P.H.S. to get together for some fun. It was a night filled with fun, cheering, smiles, hugs, and laughter. Hopefully Superclass will exist at P.H.S. as long as it will in our memories.

The Ram baseball team did extremely well this season. The Rams at one time had an 18 game winning streak which was halted by NMMI. In the history of baseball here at Portales, the 1981 Ram baseball team did the best out of everyone, so far. They did this by finishing second at the State Tournament, they also placed first in our district. Don't get the impression that the road "road to success" was easy. As a matter of fact, it was long and tremendously strenuous. We'd like to take this time to congratulate the 1981 Ram baseball team.

Looking Forward To

The Portales Rams captured 3rd place at the district track meet. Qualifying for the State Track Meet were Mark Cage, Carl Britton, Albert Ontiveros, Barr Walker, Ikey Montoya, Joe Loehr, Everal Young and Greg Goodrich. During the season several school records were broken. Those who broke them were Don Hoase, Mark Cage, Carl Britton, Ikey Montoya, Everal Young and Barr Walker.

The Portales Ramettes fared well in their 1982 season. They successfully qualified six people for the State Track Meet. They were Robbie Robinson in the shot and discus, Janet Baker in the discus, Maria Tollett in the long jump, Trace Barnard in the high jump, Julia Schmuck in the 80-m and 100-m hurdles, the Della Diaz in the 100-m dash. Tracey Barnard finished in a three-way tie for third place at State

During the season many of the Ramettes set new school records, including the 800-m relay team of Maria Tollett, Shawna Jenkins, Trace Barnard, and Della Diaz. The same foursome also set a record in the 400-m relay. Maria Tollett set the district record for the long jump and Trace Barnard tied the record in the high jump.

Tennis 1982

The 1982 tennis team was very successful. The girls team captured the District championship, the boys tied for second, and five people qualified for state. Jeff Newberry and Curt Powell captured third place in doubles as did Bee Gee Brown and Kandee Lewter. Leslie Richards, the other state qualifier, lost a hard-fought first match.

The golf team did really well this year and made it to State. Those people making it to State were Phillip McKenzie, Jay Strandefor, Jody King, Mark Howl, and Keith Durham. They placed second in District, just one stroke behind first place Lovington. They went on to qualify for the State Golf Tournament held in Albuquerque. They placed seventh overall at State.

Keeping It Cool

The day we became seniors is the day we turned "cool". In all the years before we had looked up to that older and wiser class called the seniors, counting the days until we would finally be one. Well we were here and we couldn't believe it or the new feeling we had about ourselves. That "Hey, look at me!" or "Get out of my way, I'm a senior!" attitude overtook us. The year of the senior stud had begun when we directed the poor naive freshmen to the wrong class and then had the sophomores carry our books. The guys enjoyed the stardom as all the starry eyed younger girls fell over every time they walked by, while the senior girls died of jealousy, but knew that they had younger admirers too. It was a strange yet wonderful year, anxious to get out into the world, but in some ways wanting to stay at good ole' PHS. Still through the year we kept composure and played it cool. After all, being cool was just part of being a senior.

Senioritis has already caught Bruce Strandifer. Greg Speck wonders if it's contagious.

Senioritis

Warning! Extremely infectious disease strikes all senior students. Symptoms are as follows: deaf to alarm clocks, continual "who cares", no ability for mental or physical exertion, and an extreme loss of memory for the actual time to go to class.

What causes a healthy 18 year old to suddenly go so berserk? Why would clear faced students gorge themselves with chocolates, cokes, and chips, watch the reruns of *M*A*S*H*, and let their homework go until five minutes before class?

Yet it really isn't so bad acting like a senior, forgetting the future responsibilities and acting just like they want. After all, what is being a senior without senioritis?

One Big Happy Family

The majority of the class of '82 has gone through our school years together. As the years went by, we became closer to one another. We shared our good times along with the bad. This bound us to each other just as a family is linked. At the beginning of first grade, four cousins started school together. After 12 years of reading, writing and arithmetic, they graduated together here at PHS. These cousins are Bruce Newberry, Jeff Newberry, Johnny Poe, and Johnny Sikes.

Weekends

God knew what he was doing when he created weekends. If it wasn't for weekends, life would really be boring. There wouldn't be any crazy memories of our teenage years, we couldn't have had fun dates, a game of ditch 'em, or a fun time cruising the drag. Weekends were made for life!

Weekends were a time when we could completely forget about our homework and enjoy ourselves. It was made up of two nights full of fun times, no worrying about "the big test" tomorrow, or getting home early because of school the next day. It was a once a week vacation.

The Same Thing, Only

Just another pep rally? Not if the Juniors were showing the support and excitement that was so characteristic of them throughout the year at our pep rallies and games. With more than their share of spirited students (and big mouths!), the Junior class cheered its way into winning the majority of the competition yells and Miss Spirit awards at the pep rallies. During football Homecoming Week, Juniors collected the most money in the car bash and downtown window painting, and they won the sign competition at the Homecoming pep rally. With spirit and support such as this shown for our Rams, how could we help but be the state champs? What a lively bunch!

Friends are what make our lives worthwhile. They are the ones that we can act crazy with and share our problems. It seems just like yesterday when we were starting school and we thought we wouldn't have any friends at all. As we grew out of our shyness we began to talk to more people and go places with them they were our friends

By the time we were starting junior high most of us probably had a lot of friends. The gang would chase the opposite sex and talk on the phone for hours. Now eleven years later we all have many friends and have gone through many changes. We have seen friends move and even get married. But our lives would be boring and sad without them. Friends of '83' we love you all!

There were numerous things to talk about. All you had to do was listen a while and you would find out who was daring whom, who cheated on the last Biology test, and who the new kid was. "When is the next Sophomore class meeting?", "What time does the pep rally start?", and "Are you going to drag main Friday?". These are just a few of the questions you might have heard. Everyone had something to say and there was a lot to be said for the year of 1981-82.

new cars, new color. They brought sports cars with added attractions such as solar screen for the windows and racing stripes. For many, economy cars were "in" because they would help to cut the high gas costs. A change in their daily habits emerged after new driving freedom. Now they could get a homecoming date without having their parents drive them to the game or having to meet each other there. They could even go to the drive-in if they wanted. They weren't stuck at the cafeteria for lunch anymore. Now they could go to a restaurant to bite. For some, the long, crowded bus drive came to an end and driving your own wheels' to school was the highlight. They got a taste of their own medicine when Juniors and Seniors with cars, who had been putting up with pranks from

The Sophomore year for most students is a break-through. They're no longer the lowest of the underclassmen and they can finally start to feel confident about their place at PHS. They also begin to get more respect along with increased responsibilities.

Dating Dilemmas

Here at PHS, almost every student experienced some type of feelings for another person. Many girl-boy friendships became a common and wonderful bond between two people. And yet the most usual display of feelings which was shown was in the boy-girl "love". Friendship is a very important part of loving, yet those "in love" have something much more special than those who are just friends. These types of students were often spotted kissing before, after and in between classes. They weren't the ones who loved to learn, they were the ones who were in love.

They became physically paranoid, "Oh no! I got a zit!" Boys worried that they may never grow a mustache while girls worried that they might. They also became emotionally paranoid and often thought to themselves "Should I let him kiss me or does my breath stink?" "Should I kiss her or does my breath stink?" "If I go to the bathroom will he hear?" "Do I dare order a steak or should I order a hamburger?" "Will I have enough money if she actually orders a steak?" And on and on it goes — one big nerve wracking minute after another. But, of course, it is all worth it because without it PHS courting years would have no real "pizzazz".

This year was the start of a new life for us. It was different, bigger, and definitely scarier. There were more people, most who were bigger than us, giving us the feeling of being looked down on. It was the year to experience a new low in cafeteria food. The only time we got a break was when an upperclass man took pity on us. Having no cars or license, we felt left out. Naturally it was harder for us to get to games, dances, and parties, and it was even harder to drag main. That changed with the help of Driver's Ed. classes and our 15th birthdays. We were lost for the first few weeks of school, continually walking into junior and senior classes. It seemed as if we were the bottom of the pile, but slowly we crawled out from underneath, to begin our way to the top.

Let's Get Crazy

In that crazy school year of 1981-82, the Freshmen seemed to be a mite crazier. Maybe it was just finally being in high school or maybe just an early stage of that senioritis. Whatever the case was, Freshmen had a talent for capturing attention

As we look back and remember some of the nuttier things we did, we laugh as a flush of embarrassment flows through our cheeks. It wasn't really us who did those things, but the child in us. It's the child that makes us dye our hair orange and purple and skare around the halls of the school or drop our books in front of a person we liked. It's a way of getting noticed, not to mention a way of having fun. Yet sometimes we acted so crazy, it seemed as if we were going through our second childhood or a new form of wild schizophrenia. But whatever you want to call it, it hasn't gone away. Besides, it's sort of expected of us freshmen any way. Yet, as that hectic freshmen year ended with a sigh of relief, it also ended with one of sadness because we knew the excitement of being a freshman was over.

Growing Pains

Starting out the year as freshmen was rough. We got hassled from all the upperclassmen. It was a year to grow and experience. The beginning was a sort of out-of-place feeling. Being in a new place with many new faces was a big adjustment. Being a freshman was rock bottom. But as the year went on we grew together and became a part of PHS. We were the future seniors. We believed our class was No. 1. As the end of the year came, we knew one thing for sure. We were coming up and growing up, too!

The End

Looking back to this year one can imagine and hear the laughter in the halls, the clatter of the lunchroom and the bounding of the balls in the gym. The smell of books from the library drifts by on a fresh spring day and static noises flow through the intercom as the kids talk on without listening. Everyday occurrences which aren't outstanding happenings, yet are special in their own way.

The end for many, yet only the beginning for others — 1982. It's been a year of many memorable events special to each of us at PHS. I hope that as each of you look through this yearbook you will find and enjoy your own memories captured in a picture or described with a word. Your friends, your class, and most importantly, PHS as a whole, are memories that this book holds for you — for a lifetime. Each page was carefully constructed with you in mind. It took you to make us one, one so unique and special that no one could ever be like it. For even though as individuals we are a world apart, together at PHS we are one.

To my co-editor, Kandee Lewter, Mrs. Brown, the PHS photographers, and the Publications staff I want to say "thank you" for all the time and work they put into making this book.

To each of you I want to wish you all the luck and happiness possible and a special "thanks" for making the year of 1982 a year to be remembered.
